

3 Ways to Power Up Your Professional Development

With equitable, scalable professional learning that works.

83%

of parents continue to point to high-quality teachers as one of the most important educational elements that impact student success.

However,

43%

of administrators and

23%

of teachers report training opportunities around consistent and effective pedagogy.

High-quality professional learning opportunities are more likely to increase:

- Teacher retention
- Quality of instruction
- Student success

Personalize

- Offer self-paced learning opportunities
- Allow teachers & staff to self-register for professional development
- Create certification paths for what your teachers need

2

Simplify

- Use a registration tool that works
- Automate your registration process such as enrollment, payment, and certification generation to save time
- Keep track of PD course progress and transcripts with an easy-to-digest dashboard for teachers and administrators

Scale

- Equitably grant all teachers access to a district-branded storefront
- Promote professional learning in a familiar digital environment
